

“CPC can manufacture virtually all detention lock components and do so with precision. They also offer remanufacturing, so an entire new lock replacement may be avoided.”

– Maryland Department of Public Safety & Correctional Services

Here at CPC, we bend over backwards to give you flexible solutions.

What matters to us is keeping your facility's detention locks and sliding doors in good working order. That's why we offer more solutions than the OEMs and distributors.

You see, sometimes there aren't enough dollars in the budget for a new lock or enough hours in the day to repair the old one. That's why, besides manufacturing locks and parts as direct replacements for the OEM equipment, we offer lock remanufacturing. Just ship us your old worn-out locks and we'll turn them around fast.

Built to Last a Life Sentence.™

Corrections facilities from coast to coast have tested our products. CPC meets the toughest standards.

What's the benefit of having a lock rebuilt? Less time, less money, less headaches, less worries. All you have to do is ship us the lock. We'll take it from there, at a fraction of the cost of a new lock and with a one-year parts and labor warranty. And with our strict manufacturing tolerances and expert lock shop staff, you will know it will be done right.

My facility doesn't have spare locks, so how can we ship you our old locks to rebuild? No sweat, CPC will provide the use of spare locks free of charge*. When the project is completed, you may either purchase the locks or return them at our expense.

What brands can CPC rebuild? You name it. Folger Adam, Southern Steel, RR Brink, and Adtec, including many discontinued models. We manufacture our parts to meet or exceed OEM specs. And we maintain a huge inventory to ensure more responsive service.

What types of facilities does CPC serve? We're proud to serve customers running the gamut, from small county jails to state and federal prisons, across the United States and internationally.
